

Transparency Report December 2019

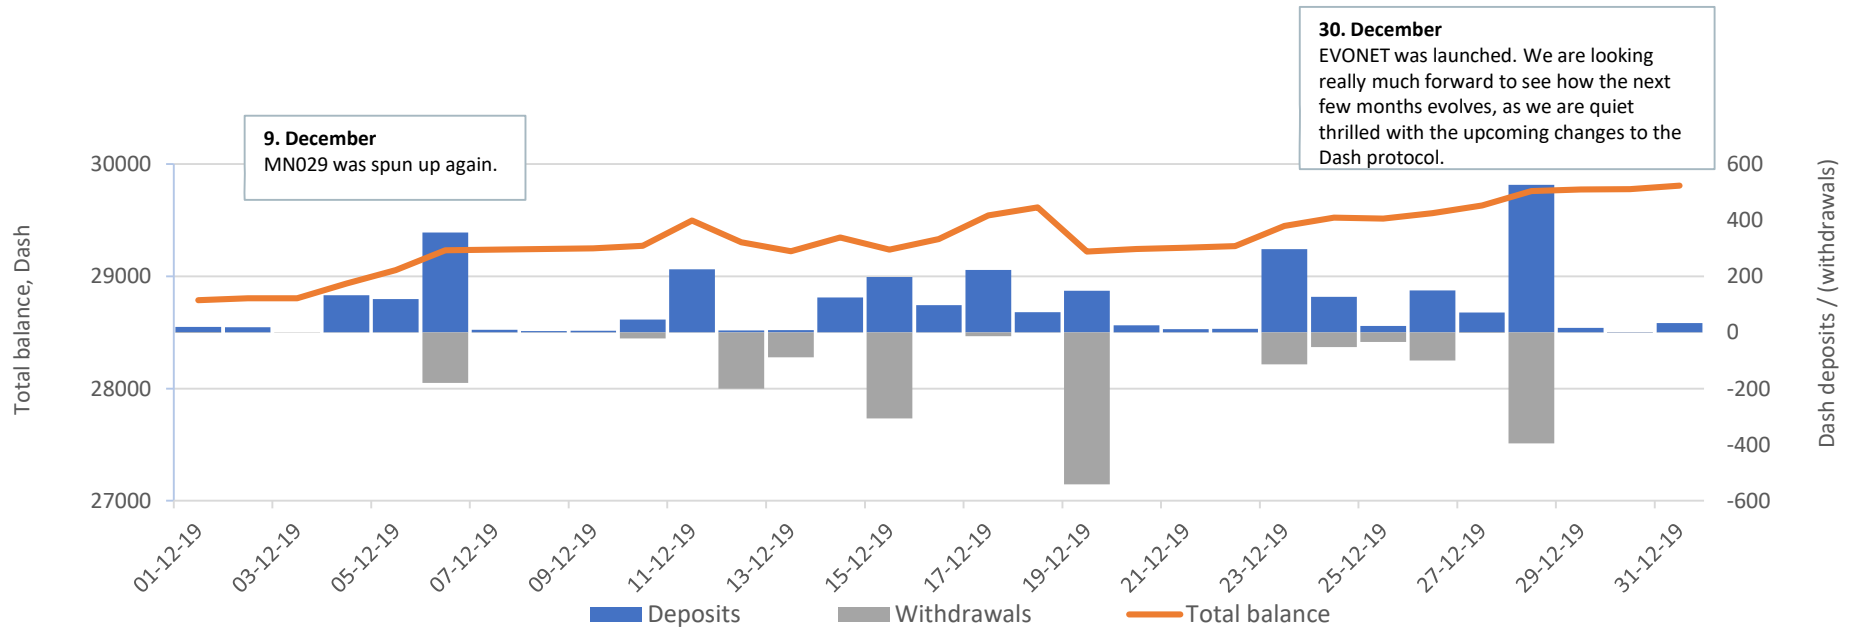

Main take-aways of the month:

- For the first time we managed to receive more than 100 rewards in a full month. We are excited about this and hope there will be plenty more of these months to come.
- Generally low activity, however, impacted by a few larger deposits from mainly existing customers
- The Dash rate was impacted negatively, declining to a rate below 40 USD at times. Some saw this as a potential and bought extra, while the majority have been a bit hesitant.
- On a more Dash-related level, we are very thrilled that the first steps of Dash Evolution has been released. Late December Dash Evonet was launched and we look much forward to using the Dash Platform Name Service in order to make deposits much easier.

Incidents:

- During Christmas we scaled 14 of the nodes down to 1Core/1GB (with 4 GB page file) as an experiment to see, if it would be possible to optimize cost of running, but a handful received a PoSePenalty, so we scaled them up again.
- Three of the masternodes were down after scaling back up and we have consequently learned that the masternodes had the Governance.dat-files corrupted.
